

Interactive comment on “On the complexity of surface ruptures during normal faulting earthquakes: excerpts from the 6 April 2009, L’Aquila (central Italy) earthquake (M_w

F. Storti (Editor)

fabrizio.storti@unipr.it

Received and published: 5 February 2014

Dear Dr. Bonini,

please address in detail all points raised by both reviewers. In particular, reviewer 1 is asking examples to support the applicability of your results, while both reviewers raise some questions on the experimental side. I agree on what the reviewers suggest. Please explain in detail how and where you modified the manuscript to account for criticism and suggestions.

Best regards,

C964

Fabrizio Storti