

Interactive comment on “Features of the Earth surface deformations in Kamchatka peninsula and their relation with geacoustic emission” by I. A. Larionov et al.

B.A. Leybourne

leybourneb@hotmail.com

Received and published: 26 August 2014

As for the main rating criteria I would say the Scientific Significance & Quality are excellent, since this topic is becoming more relevant in earthquake monitoring and forecasting. While the presentation quality was good.

This is an interesting local analysis, with the raw data presented very plainly. Precursors were definitely evident, but I would be interested if it's common that similar recorded events are not necessarily earthquake precursors? If this comment was already mentioned I may have missed this discussion.

C820

Interactive comment on Solid Earth Discuss., 6, 2401, 2014.

C821