

Interactive comment on “Estimating soil erosion risk and evaluating erosion control measures for soil conservation planning at Koga Watershed, Ethiopian Highlands” by Tegegne Molla and Biniam Sisheber

Anonymous Referee #3

Received and published: 27 September 2016

Dear authors, obviously, it seems odd jobs include wind erosion references in an article that has RUSLE as a base. However, both recommended references show the protective effect of shrubs in front of the detachment, transport and deposition of soil particles elsewhere, whether those actions are due to wind or water. Besides the role of fertility islands formed underneath the shrubs canopies from semiarid environments, on runoff processes. Anyway, this is just an opinion.

Interactive comment on Solid Earth Discuss., doi:10.5194/se-2016-120, 2016.