Papers se-2016-164 flows on to paper se-2017-35. The original paper se-2016-164 was rejected only so that the authors could resubmit the revised version with track changes. This was entirely a workflow issue, unrelated to the quality of the paper or the resubmitted material. As a result a new submission, paper se-2017-35, was promptly made by the authors. Because the reviews posted for se-2016-164 applied equally to se-2017-35, there was no need to resend it to review. I went through the track changes and the reviewers letters, checking for the quality and extent of the changes. I
